“RFP for Appointment of Consultant for Feasibility Study and Transaction Advisory Services for Assessment of Reuse of Waste Water Requirement for all Major Ports in India”.

Introduction

Ports are economic and service provision units of a remarkable importance since they act as a place for the interchange of two transport modes, maritime and land, whether by rail or road. Therefore, the essential aspect of ports lies in their intermodal nature. India has a coast-line of over 7517 Kms with 12 major ports and 200 notified non-major (minor/intermediate) ports along the coast-line and sea-islands. These 200 Non-major ports are located in Gujarat (41), Maharashtra (48), Goa (5), Daman & Diu (2), Karnataka (11), Kerala (17), Lakshadweep (10), Tamilnadu (15), Puducherry (2), Andhra Pradesh (12), Orissa (13), West Bengal (1) and Andaman & Nicobar Island (23). Out of these 200 Non-Major ports, only some ports are well developed and provide all-weather berthing facilities for cargo handling. The Maritime Ports operate within the statutory framework of the Indian Ports Act 1908 which applies to all the ports. However, the Major Ports Act 1963 applies only to Major Ports.

Wastewater management in India has become an extremely important area of focus due to increasing health awareness and population pressure. Despite the wastewater sector witnessing major growth in the last decade due to increasing government support and private participation, the scale of the problem remains enormous. For instance, it is estimated that less than 20% of domestic and 60% of industrial wastewater is treated. Metros and large cities (more than 100,000 inhabitants) are treating only about 29.2% of their wastewater; smaller cities treat only 3.7% of their wastewater.

Presently, water demand is higher than supply and ports are facing water shortage as there are problems at the supplying end. There is lot of expansion and development activities are taking place in the port areas and the water requirement is expected to reach approximately 30-50 MLD in a phased manner at each major port. At Present, about 15 to 20 MLD water is supplied by local water supply authorities and water boards for port areas.

In view of the above it is proposed to invite Consultancy Services for verifying the feasibility of using the reuse of waste water from the port area to fulfil the growing water requirement at all the major ports at various locations.
The consultancy services consist of feasibility study and preparation of feasibility report, detailed study and preparation of detailed project report, preparing detailed cost estimate, technical and commercial specifications and tender documents, financial advisory and bid process management.

Objective
The objective of this RFP is as follows:

a) To obtain a better compliance to statutory provisions, international obligations and international best practices with the help of the consultant.

b) To provide better services.

c) To improve its water management system.

d) To explore the possibility to use reclaimed waste water after treatment from waste water treatment facility to fulfil its water requirements for all the major ports in India, thereby saving precious fresh water.

e) To carry out the assessment of reuse of waste water requirement for their existing major ports for enhancing the efficiency of current system.

f) To Identify gaps for improvement of system along with exploring the possibility of Long Term Turnkey O&M for treatment systems
